Paging Gateway M400

Bridges Smartphones, Computer and Tablet with Analog and IP Paging Systems

The Barix Paging Gateway allows to page from mobile phones and from any computer or tablet on the local network. It easily integrates with most existing analog paging systems. The web app provides a simple to use interface that allows paging into any paging system, even fully analog ones (no application needs to be installed). Access protection makes sure, only persons allowed to page, can use the system. The Paging Gateway M400 can also be used as a zone-based paging station. The user selects the zones he/she wants to page to and the fully IP based IC paging solution routes the paging to the right speakers or zone amplifiers.
